

Dear Solomon, as you know very well the summits of NATO were very, very important. But really this one in Madrid is even more important because of the situation in Ukraine and overall, so it is really a moment in which NATO has to use its intelligence and common sense and try to come out with a position that will be good for everybody.