Entity Presentation (We are)

The mission of Directorate A “Defence Industry” is to promote the sustainable competitiveness of the EU defence industry notably by enhancing its resilience and responsiveness and fostering its innovation capacity. It is also to support a European defence market providing for job creation, skills availability and a level playing field. Against this backdrop, one of the overarching aims pursued is to create framework conditions stimulating European cross-border cooperation in the development of defence technologies and capabilities.

A core responsibility of the Directorate in this regard, is to implement the EU's industrial defence programmes such as the European Defence Fund and its precursor programmes, the Act in Support of Ammunition Production and the European Defence Industry Reinforcement through common Procurement Act, the European Defence Industrial Strategy and the European Defence Industry Programme.

The mission of DEFIS A1 (Defence Industrial Policy) is to promote the sustainable competitiveness of the EU defence industry and its adaptation to the new security environment as well as to stimulate the defence internal market contributing to a stronger Europe in the field of security and defence. Unit A1 handles a mix of industrial policy and Single Market tools and is also responsible for ensuring relations with the European Defence Agency (EDA), EEAS (including its Military Staff) and NATO and coherence with other EU initiatives in the field of defence.
